

Montana bar, in the disputed territory between Honduras and Guatemala. Further south along the Guatemala line it is reported that the revolutionists, 400 strong, including many Americans, armed with modern rifles, two field pieces and a plentiful supply of ammunition, are preparing for a march through Santa Barbara to Tezucalpa, the capital.

Another body of revolutionists is reported in the vicinity of Las Quercas, where a small engagement is said to have taken place yesterday. These soldiers, it is believed, are to be used in the attack upon Puerto Cortes.

There is a marked feeling of suspense in this city. From all indications the government intends to make a strong fight here. The small garrison has been increased within the past few days by the arrival of 500 government troops and a small battery of machine guns, but there is grave doubt as to the loyalty of the troops. It is believed the mere presence here of Manuel Bonilla or General Lee-Christian will result in a general "turn over" and cause an alliance of the government troops with the revolutionists.

Captain Davis, of the United States cruiser Tacoma, now far out in the harbor, has stated that immediately upon the outbreak of hostilities he will land a sufficient number of blackjacks to protect the lives of Americans.

A strict censorship is maintained, and it is almost impossible to send a cablegram.

A BONDHOLDER IN HEAVEN

"Circuit Rider's Wife" Files Inventory of Self-Start Husband's Estate.

Nashville, Tenn., January 2.—Stating that her husband was "recognized as one of the largest bondholders in Nashville" and that the main part of his estate was "invested in heavily secured securities, the values of which have been seriously depreciated in this world and highly taxed by the courts," Mrs. Cora Harris, author of "The Circuit Rider's Wife," has filed a very remarkable document with Clerk W. F. Hunt here, the same being an inventory of the estate of her husband, the Rev. James H. Harris, D. D. Dr. Harris, the author of the book, died of a heart attack at his home in Nashville, Tenn., on January 1, 1911.

At the time of his death he had $2,331 in cash, $118 in the United Bank and Trust Co. and the main part of his estate was "invested in heavily secured securities, the values of which have been seriously depreciated in this world and highly taxed by the courts," Mrs. Cora Harris, author of "The Circuit Rider's Wife," has filed a very remarkable document with Clerk W. WINS HER HEART BY WIRE

Critchell With Fifteen Telegrams Induces Girl to Marry.

Chicago, Ill., January 2.—Lawrence Critchell, a nephew of a prominent La Salle Street banker, has wooed and won a girl by telegraph. While she was on one train bound for New York with her mother, she received a telegram from Critchell, who was on a train twelve hours behind her, bombarding her with telegrams in which he implored her to give up the contemplated trip to Europe and remain in America and become Mrs. Critchell.

His electrical courtship lasted four days. It excited telegraph operators and messenger boys all along the line. The girl, Miss Miller, finally gave up her journey to Europe and came to Chicago to marry Critchell.

At first the situation seemed hopeless. Then he bethought him of the telegraph and decided to press his suit by wire. Every message was marked "Rush," and the operators were much in sympathy with him and interested so in the development of the romance that they shunted commercial business aside every time he or Miss Miller filed a message.

"Berry's for Clothes."

You young men have heard more or less of the new London Suits.

Yes, they are pretty bad from our point of view, but we modified and improved the cut, and can show you a suit built on the London lines—that's not so bad.

A long soft rolling collar and no make-up in the shoulder, no extra fullness of chest, but if anything you buy here goes wrong, don't consume your own smoke, but come right to this store or write or phone, or wire, and burn it out.

All we ask is the chance, to satisfy every customer.

CALLS ARMY MEN PARASITES

Hired Assassins, Deserving No Admiration, Declares Archbishop Gleason.

St. Louis, January 2.—Archbishop Gleason, in a sermon at the new Cathedral Chapel, denounced as non-sensical the view advanced by military men that in these times a nation should be fully armed, in order to prevent war.

"It is a strange way to promote peace by going to the foundry and having guns cast to kill people," he said. "There is no logic, no sincerity, in such a means to avoid war."

The archbishop urged peace in the homes, peace in industry and peace among nations. He assailed the military man and called him a parasite of the community.

"He is a hired assassin, killing men at so much per head," said the speaker. "His gold lace epaulets and lined uniform signify nothing but the fact that he is living on public revenues and doing little or nothing for the community. The professional soldier deserves no honor, and he is not one who should be held up as an ideal man."

The archbishop declared that military training for boys is good, in that it promotes discipline and obedience, but its usefulness ends there. He added that the man who makes war his life work is divorced from the spirit of Christianity.

KING CATALOGUES COINS

Italian Monarch Describes Those Minted by House of Savoy.

Rome, January 2.—The first volume of a work on the history of the Italian monarchy, entitled "Corpus Nummorum Italianorum," has just been published. It is the first general catalogue of Italian medieval and modern coins, with special reference to those minted by the House of Savoy. It comprises 322 pages and forty-two sheets of illustrations.

Half of the proceeds from the sale of this work will be devoted to benevolent institutions and half to the Italian Numismatic Society.

MUST TAKE OATH

Anti-Modernist Vow Is Prescribed by the Pope.

New Orleans, La., January 2.—The Catholic clergy of this city today received written orders from the Vatican to be prepared to take the anti-modernist oath, required by the Pope. Clergy outside the city will take the oath before their death, and dates to be fixed by the archbishop. The oath will be taken in Latin.

PICTURE SUGGESTED CRIME

Three Men Hold Up Another. After Seeing It Done on a Moving Film.

Elizabeth, N. J., January 2.—After attending a moving picture theatre in this city, where the same scene was shown, three young men, who said they were William Killebrew, Paul Swen, and Adolph Swen, decided to reproduce the scene. They had witnessed in real life. They lay in wait at Bayway and the Long Branch Railroad. A lone rider, the owner of this city, for William Killebrew, of 113 Fifth Avenue, jumping on Killebrew, they took his wallet, containing $29 bills. Then they stole his watch, and left him battered and bleeding on the road.

The three were handkerchiefs as masks, but Killebrew recognized one of them and described him to the police. Wednesday, the three were arrested. Killebrew, Swen and Paul Swen, and Detective O'Brien met the three in a saloon, where they were spending their loot.

MINISTER ARRESTED

He Must Face Charge of Deserting His Wife.

Anita Gray, Jan. 2.—Rev. I. Clyde Doyle, a young minister, wanted here on a charge of wife desertion, is under arrest at Tyler, Tex., according to news received here today. He married Charlotte, a niece of Mayor Dixon, of this city, and after living with her less than six months he disappeared. He will be brought here for trial.

SOCIETY GIRL HAS PELLAGRA

Miss Polly Shepard, of Warrenton, Has Well Defined Case.

Warrenton, Ore., January 2.—Miss Polly Shepard, of this place, a young woman of the highest standing and prominent in charity work, a member of the King's Daughters and St. James Church, has a well defined case of pellagra at her home on Main Street. It is supposed that Miss Shepard has had the disease several years.

NO PEERS CREATED WITH NEW YEAR

British Premier Did Not Favor Them, With Lords Issue Unsettled.

London, January 2.—Much surprise was occasioned by the absence of peers from the New Year honors issued last night. The political prophets had predicted an unusually large list of peerages, the names of Mr. H. H. Asquith, Secretary of War, Sir Edgar Speyer and others having been mentioned. Some Conservative papers have talked of the appointment of as many as twenty or thirty new peers.

The omission is susceptible of two explanations. Either the King would not sanction the Premier's wish, or the Premier was reluctant to recommend further creations while the difficult question relating to the House of Lords remained unsettled. Doubtless many Unionists will jump at the conclusion that the Prime Minister failed to obtain the required guarantees from the King, but it is considered more reasonable to suppose that the government recognized the futility of creating new peers while the question of the drastic reform of the upper chamber, with the possible abolition of the hereditary basis, was an issue.

The Premier's list of honors comprises six privy counselors, the most notable of whom are Alexander Williams Murray, master of the chief Liberal whip, and William Abraham, a member of the House of Commons for the Rhonda Division of Glamorganshire, who is a son of a working collier and himself closely identified with mining interests; nine baronets, the least known of whom is Dr. Leander Starr Jameson, member of the Federal Parliament at Cape Town, who led the famous raid on the Transvaal in 1895, in connection with the establishment of the Union of South Africa; and Charles Vane, president of the Cotton Federation, and twenty-five knights. Of the latter, those most likely to strike public attention are Joseph Lyons, a well known caterer for services in supporting the territorial movement, and Henry J. Wood, the orchestral leader. Sidney Colvin, keeper of prints and drawings in the British Museum, is also knighted.

Otherwise the list is not of striking interest. The rewards go to political workers, officers of various corps, and many doctors and others connected with philanthropic work. The long list of promotions in the order of St. Michael and St. George include the names of Lord Robson and A. B. Ayles, chief of the Canadian Mounted Police, in connection with the fisheries abolition, and George P. Gibbons, chairman of the Canadian section of the Waterways Commission, in connection with the treaty on the boundary between Canada and the United States.

TO REVIEW HIS OWN OPINION

Precedent Will Be Established in Supreme Court by Van Devanter.

Washington, January 2.—A precedent will be established next week at the Supreme Court of the United States when Chief Justice Van Devanter participates in the hearing of the Standard Oil trust suit. As judge of the Circuit Court for the Eastern District of Missouri, Van Devanter sat in the Standard Oil case and concurred in the unanimous opinion in favor of the government. As chief justice of the Supreme Court he will now be called upon to review a decision in which he himself participated.

It is very unusual for a justice of the Supreme Court to take part in an appeal on a case with which he has had anything to do in the lower courts. But President Taft, it is understood, has specially requested Justice Van Devanter to participate in the hearing of the case, in order to make the Standard Oil case, in the Supreme Court, a landmark. The Executive believes that, inasmuch as courts are frequently known to review their own decisions, it is not amiss for a judge to do likewise.

$1,000,000 WILL CONTEST

Nephew Will Allege Malfeasance Broker.

Boston, January 2.—When the will of Benjamin W. Parker, of Winthrop and Boston, a millionaire molasses broker, is offered for probate in the Suffolk County Court on January 12, Dr. Frederick B. Gray, of Cambridge, California, a nephew, will seek to have it set aside.

Mr. Parker died recently, and left a fortune of about $1,000,000, mostly in industrial securities. Bequests of $500 each were made to eight persons, of whom Dr. Gray is one. The income of the entire property is to go to the testator's brother, Clark Parker, of Pasadena, Cal., with provisions for the holding of the property by his family after his death.

Dr. Gray, who, next to Clark Parker, is the nearest living relative of the testator, will contest the will on the ground, it is understood, that undue influence was exercised upon his uncle and that he was of unsound mind.

POTASH IN CANADA IS GERMAN REPORT

Foreigners Said to Have Options on Deposits Along Great Lakes.

Berlin, January 2.—Information destined to be of prime bearing on the German-American potash struggle has just been received.

It appears that the German potash trust lately sent a corps of geologists to Canada to investigate the alleged discovery of rich potash deposits close to the American border, in the region of Lakes St. Clair and Huron. The report made by the experts was sufficiently encouraging to justify the formation of a syndicate, which is now in process of organization.

All along the St. Clair river and on the shores of the lakes as far as the town of Goderich, in Ontario, it is declared that pre-conditions for potash, such as salt and lignite, have been found in most promising form and quantity.

The German syndicate, which is composed of some of the magnates who dominate the potash trust, has set out options on a vast section of contiguous land. The promoters are not yet ready to say that they have struck an undeniably rich potash tract, but declare that all advance indications are encouraging and that they are preparing to exploit them to the fullest possible extent.

Matters are already in such shape that, if the lead works out, the Germans will be in possession of a great and valuable source of supply to make their own potash works self-sufficient. Still more important, they will be in a position to monopolize the world's potash supply.

Nothing is known, in either American or German official quarters in Berlin, regarding the steps said to be taken by the German government to settle the dispute. Much anxiety is felt by the German government about the possibility of the enforcement of the re-venue maximum, which the League of Nations has adopted. The view is held that too many other interests would be damaged by tariff war, and it is expedient for President Taft to resort to such extreme measures.

Some scholars believe, however, that the German government is quite aware that the question asked upon to take up the question afresh in one form or another.

NEW YORK LIVING BEYOND ITS MEANS

An Open Fight.

The contest for the election of a successor to United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew is expected to be waged with increased activity following the public inauguration of Governor John A. Dix, and the organization of both houses of the legislature at noon Wednesday. At present it appears to be an open fight.

William F. Sheehan, Edward M. Shepard, Supreme Court Judge Gerard, and Herbert L. Bissell, who have been mentioned for the office, are here. They declare that they came to Albany to attend the inauguration ceremonies and have refrained from publicly discussing the senatorial situation.

Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, who has declared that the election of a United States Senator is a question for the Legislature to decide, has conferred informally with legislative leaders from all parts of the State. He has given no indication as to whom he favors for the senatorship. Former Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals Alton B. Parker, who has been suggested as a compromise candidate, is in Albany and has conferred with Governor Dix.

Seymour Van Santvoord, of Troy, also has been mentioned as a compromise candidate. He is a warm friend of Governor Dix.

DEMOCRATS IN CONTROL

They Will Elect Their Senator in Ohio.

Columbus, O., January 2.—The seventy-ninth General Assembly of Ohio opened today at 10 o'clock, with the Democrats for the first time in two decades in control of both branches, and Judson Harman, a Democrat, in the gubernatorial chair, having been re-elected at the November election.

Unusual interest is shown in the proceedings of the Legislature, because there will be elected a successor to United States Senator Charles Dick, a Republican, and because of the fact that Judson Harman is believed to be in training for the presidential nomination.

In the Senate there are nineteen Democrats and fifteen Republicans, and in the House, seventy Democrats and forty-eight Republicans. The Republicans are in a minority in both branches.

ORGANIZATION DEFEATED

Regulars Refuse to Vote With Independent Democrats and Republicans.

Nashville, Tenn., January 2.—The fifty-seventh biennial session of the General Assembly of Tennessee began today, but little was accomplished. The Senate, fully under the control of the regular Democrats, perfected a bill to amend the constitution, electing all the nominees of the Democratic caucus, including N. Baxter, Jr., of Nashville, Republican and Independent candidates were withdrawn.

In the House, the situation was, however, entirely different. The Regulars refused to support the choice of the Independent Democrats for Speaker, chief clerk and assistant clerk. The Independent Democrats caused in the morning and the Regulars also held a star chamber session. Seven less than a quorum answered to the roll call. The Independent Democrats proceeded with temporary organization by electing J. Harry Swan, Jr., temporary Speaker, and Fred W. Campbell, clerk. The Regulars' floor leader, Mr. Puryear, objected to every move on the part of the Independent Democrats to make a quorum. This, however, is considered doubtful.

Half a dozen or more notices of contest were filed by Fusionists in the House this afternoon for at least two senatorial seats will be contested. One of the latter is by a Republican and the other by a Democrat.

The first balloting for United States Senator may take place a week from next Tuesday.

JOHNSON INAUGURATED

Sacramento, Cal., January 2.—A new era dawned for California today with the inauguration of Hiram Johnson, the new reform Governor. If Governor Johnson is successful in the campaign he proposes to wage as executive, he claims that "the interests," meaning the railroads, steamship companies and other powerful corporations, will be driven from their control of the Golden Gate politics.

Mr. Johnson, who is insurgent even outside of politics, declared against a showy inauguration and taboed the proposed ball, which for at least two years has been a brilliant social adjunct of the inauguration ceremonies.

Friends and political followers of Mr. Johnson, who are looking into the future, declare that fate may deal him a larger hand in the game of politics. They declare that Mr. Johnson may be named for the presidency if the Republican insurgents are able to control national affairs two years hence.

SIMPLICITY IS KEYNOTE

Lansing, Mich., January 2.—Simplicity formed the keynote of the ceremonies today attending the inauguration of Chase M. Osborn as Governor of Michigan.

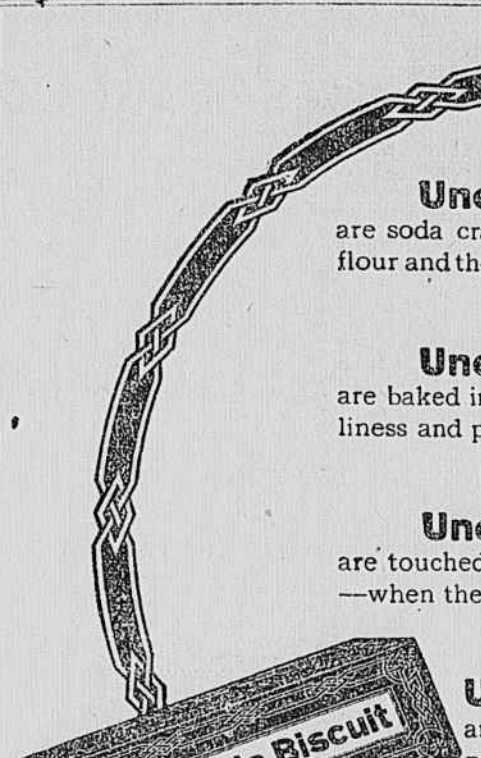

All military pomp and ostentation were lacking, and even the customary public reception was dispensed with, in accordance with the wishes of the Governor.

CAT KEEPS HALF CITY DARK

Short-Circuit, New Lighting System and Spills Celebratory System.

Orange, N. J., January 2.—A cat, it was disclosed today, spoiled the proposed celebration of the completion of Orange's new electric lighting plant last night. Great preparations had been made for turning on the lights throughout half of the city, and Councilman Joseph A. Birkholz, the Mayor and other city officials, had assembled in the new municipal power house.

"I now have the pleasure," said Birkholz, pressing his thumb on the button.

Everybody peeped out the window, expecting to see the lights flash through miles of streets in every direction. But nothing happened.

After repeated but futile pressing of the button, the disappointed officials went away, wondering what had happened. Inspectors frantically searched all night, testing wires and poles. Early today they discovered a dead and frozen cat astride the wire, between the power house and the first lamp post. Picture wire had been wound around the cat and some rooster, the police say, had tossed the animal up in the air, probably not dreaming it would alight on the lighting wires. In the excitement, the cat, clutching the lighting wire, had brought the loose end of the picture wire wound around the cat and some rooster, the police say, had tossed the animal up in the air, probably not dreaming it would alight on the lighting wires.
